2010 Fee Schedule

Our offices are very busy and certain deadlines are important for our camp preparation. Our application process involves three parts: the initial application, a set of parent and teacher questionnaires, and the consult. The initial fee pays for the first two parts. All children require the consult for acceptance to camp. However, if, based on the first two parts of the application, it is determined that our camp may not be the best fit for your child, we can save you the cost of the consult by letting you know and returning the consult portion of the fee to you.

It is important to submit your application early so that we can review the initial application. After May 9th, there is not enough time to review all the parts of the application in a sequential manner. At this point, it is necessary to schedule the consult while we review the application. Therefore, initial applications postmarked after May 9^h require the full $150 fee.

Please note, the Application Fees are due with the application even if your school system will be paying for the program. Also, if your school system is paying, they must submit a signed contract in order to secure your child's spot at camp. It is the parents' responsibility to follow-up with schools regarding signed contracts.

Please inquire about Financial Aid. As this is our third year as a non-profit organization, we still do not have a substantial Financial Aid fund, but we are continually working on it.
